

RAVE Reviews

Since its founding in 1979, Metro Technology Center has successfully helped high school and adult students continue their education by providing courses, career counseling, test prep and countless other beneficial services.

Having grown to four separate campuses in Oklahoma City, Metro Tech needed a way to unite their employees with a recognition outlet that was visible throughout the organization and still provide meaningful appreciation. They chose Carousel®.

RAVE

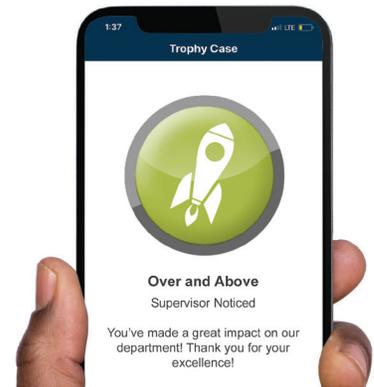

Among Carousel's many unique features is the ability to implement a customized name and theme to fit a client's culture. Metro Tech introduced RAVE — Recognizing Achievement of Valued Employees — to fit their culture and makes sure employees feel appreciated for all their hard work.

Making the Grade

Before Metro Tech's implementation of Carousel, acknowledging a fellow employee "required approval by a committee, which meant a lot of time and delays in getting the recognitions out. Without immediacy, the recognition often lost its impact" said Mary Craft, program administrator. With Carousel the process is now simple, fun — and most importantly — fast.

The Road to Success

Within the first six months of RAVE's launch, more than 4,000 badges have been awarded and countless messages and certificates delivered.

People love being recognized and this is a great way for supervisors and peers to let someone know they did a great job.

—Mary Craft, RAVE's administrator

A Class Act

The comprehensiveness and versatility of Carousel fit the needs of Metro Tech perfectly. RAVE not only utilizes managerial and peer-to-peer recognition but also wellness, years of service, safety and community involvement programs, all on one platform.

Rewarding Excellence

The ability to print out a tangible RAVE certificate of recognition is another special feature of Carousel. These certificates can be hand-delivered to an employee, providing a moment of face to face acknowledgment.
