

Carousel the Right Choice

Prince William County employees have always been, and continue to be, their most valuable asset. To build focus on those employees, they set out to enhance the organization's culture. "Our research showed that employee recognition was one of, if not the, most important element of building a culture of employee engagement," said Nikki Brown, Deputy Communications Director. Realizing that recognition was key to their organization's future, Prince William County took the next step with MTM Recognition's social recognition platform, Carousel®.

The Right Choice

For Prince William County, MTM offered years of experience working with government municipalities and organizations in the private sector. "In addition, the Carousel® program was an important component because we wanted a platform to easily allow employees at all levels of the organization to reach out and recognize good deeds and good work! Other features we found useful were the ability to send Ecards, replacing our outdated service award program for a catalog-based system, and the newsfeed that allowed real time information for all our employees." Carousel® was the perfect choice!

PWX Excels

Great minds of Prince William County worked with MTM Recognition to develop their new social platform, branded as PWX. Thanks to extensive training and great program administrators like Nikki, PWX has excelled since its launch, going above and beyond their hopes for their new recognition platform! "Our expectations for participation levels after the initial launch were more than exceeded!"

Sweepstakes

To take their recognition to the next level, PWX uses the randomized Sweepstakes feature of Carousel® to award employees who have received recognition from a coworker with additional recognition and points – allowing them to instantly redeem for cool prizes like gift cards and brand-name products!

The program is easy to use, and when questions arose, help was literally a phone call or email away! All the people we worked with were very responsive and helpful during the initial process, and remain so today!

Deputy Communications Director

Recognition Resource

Since day one, MTM employees have been a resource for all things recognition. "The program is easy to use, and when questions arose, help was literally a phone call or email away. All the people we worked with were very responsive and helpful during the initial process, and remain so today!"

The Winning Balance

"PWX has proven to be an easy way for our employees to stay in touch, be rewarded and recognized for their outstanding work. Most importantly, it has been an important tool in our efforts to reward and recognize our most important asset, our employees!"
